

Break-out C Sessions:

Speaker	Breakout Session Description	Audience:
Funny Brothers Cliff and Steven are funny (verified by many). Cliff and Steven are also brothers-in-law (hence the name).	The Power of Looking Stupid: Family Ministries Edition Cliff and Steven will be performing Improv. Their show is your show. They ask you for ideas and then they use your ideas to make you laugh... almost makes you wonder why we even need them. Oh well, it's too late, they've already agreed to come, so prepare to laugh!	All FM volunteers, teachers, SG/Crew Leaders
Mark Anderson Mark Anderson is a Professional Engineer by training with over 25 years of pastoral leadership experience. He is now a full-time professional Coach and Spiritual Director to leaders around the world in Business and in Ministry. His passion is helping everyday people encounter, hear, and trust God through the challenges of life ... including parenting! Mark is married to Petra, with two married daughters and two grandchildren. He is a Contemplative who engages life fully: able to slow down and listen, as well as move important things forward.	Listening Prayer for Parents of Teens (Part 1) What would it be like to pray for your kids and teenagers according to God's Will for their life? What is He feeling towards your beloved (and maybe a bit difficult at the moment!) child? What is He longing for? What is He desiring for you to receive? Join us for this hands on workshop with time for discussion and doable exercises that help everyday parents experience hearing God's heart.	Parents
Catlin Allen Catlin joined the Tenth staff in 2009 to lead Student Ministries at Tenth Church. What was a moderate group of ten students has grown into a dynamic student ministry with a large leadership team spanning the width of Tenth Church. Catlin is passionate about seeing Youth & Young Adults step into calling and opportunity, to see young	Culture, Leadership and Getting Outside the Box Have you ever been told 'here are the three steps to successful leadership?' What if leadership was more creative than a formula, especially in ministry context. How do we build culture and create culture carriers? How do you lead and build culture within the giftings of who God created you to be?	Leaders, Students, Team Leads

people released into who God created them to be. Catlin is married to Michelle and they have a two year old daughter named Taya. IG: @CatlinAllen
Annie Whitehead & Laurence Vicencio Annie Whitehead Annie is the Children’s Pastor at Tenth Church, Kitsilano. She loves working with children of all ages and uses her background in primary school education to create fun, creative and thoughtful teachable moments for children. Laurence Vicencio Laurence Vicencio has been Tenth Church’s Preschool Tenth Kids Pastor for 4 years, and a vital part of Family Ministries for 6. With a BA in communications, Laurence is passionate about communicating God’s love to toddlers and preschoolers, knowing that this is important foundational work in their life-long journey of faith.	Sunday Toolkit for Preschool Ministry Are you ready to face your kids on Sunday morning? How do we share God’s big story and His love for Preschoolers? Do you have all the tools you need to make Sunday mornings smooth sailing? Whether it’s through puppets, stories, song, play, games, transitions and more, this breakout hopes to equip all helpers and leaders with their classrooms. Come join us as we model and show you how to utilize different methods of teaching to create fun, safe, and rich learning experiences for Preschoolers so that they can learn of God’s love for them and who Jesus is.	Preschool Ministry
Stephanie Martens Stephanie has a Bachelor of Arts in Art History from the University of Winnipeg, a Master of Theological Studies from Regent College with a focus on Christianity and the Arts, and has worked as a graphic designer for over 13 years, both in church settings and in the broader graphic design industry.	Shepherds of Taste This workshop will explore the intersection between graphic design and the church, where we will discuss how graphic design, images and other visual mediums affect our experience of the church, and our most fundamental beliefs about who God is. We will mainly wrestle with the question, "does good taste matter in Christian art?"	Creatives

Arran Baird Arran Baird is a worship leader, pastor and songwriter from Vancouver. In addition to serving as a worship leader at Tenth Church for 9 years, he now teaches at Pacific Life Bible College in Surrey.	Worship in Anguish and Expectation Modern church culture loves to worship through celebration, but what do we do when we experience loss or pain? Or look at a hurting, angry, polarized world? This session will explore how Christ, the suffering servant, wants to meet us in the middle of our deepest hurts and longings, as well as our most ecstatic joy, and how to foster a worship culture that lives in the tension of Jesus' victory, but waiting to see it come to fullness.	Worship
---	--	----------------